Participation works. The example of the Ökomodell Achentall.

Wolfgang Wimmer, Managing Director Ökomodell Achentall/D

Project aims:

The project has to the aim to strengthen the region from the inside with lasting effect. The ideas of the citizens are collected in Initiativkreisen and are transmitted about the mayor or assessor to the board of directors of the association (Bottom-up beginning). By a membership in the association exists the possibility to introduce itself in the association work directly. The linked up thinking should be promoted above all. The work of the association serves to rectify the points for a sustainable, sustainable development of the Achentalls. Besides, the association takes an accompanying, supporting function. All interest groups in the member's municipalities are requested to a cooperation and those will profit which take part actively. In the end, an image profit is expected for the region all together and especially for those which take part actively.
